2007-08 OUTLOOK

The Old Dominion University women's golf squad returns seven letterwinners from a year ago along with an outstanding newcomer and is poised for a breakout season. Last year, ODU posted seven top ten finishes and three top five finishes.

"The squad made a large jump last year into the top half of most fields, and won its first event," said head coach Pat Kotten. "This year we look to continue that improvement. The team continues to amaze me. Every event this fall seemed to have a different player step up to lead the team, whether it was co-captain Meghan Schaefer or freshman Emma Gilmore, every week someone new takes the lead."

The list of returnees includes Rashelle Fetty, Alexis Garduno, Laura Holmes, Samantha Mosko, Bailey Mosier and Meghan Schaefer, while newcomer Emma Gilmore adds to the squad's depth.

Despite the loss of standout Ashley Davis, thus far this fall, the Lady Monarchs have had four top ten finishes this season, including third at Marshall, fifth at the Lady Monarch Invitational and seventh at William & Mary.

Sophomore Laura Holmes enjoyed a solid freshman season last year, leading ODU in seven events. She earned second team All-CAA honors and compiled a 78.72 stroke average. Thus far she has finished 12th at the Lady Monarch Invitational and 20th at Marshall.

Junior Alexis Garduno has already had two top 20 finishes this fall. She tied for seventh at Marshall and sixth at the Lady Monarch Invitational. She also shot a personal best 70 in the first round of the Lady Monarch Invitational, which is two strokes off the school mark. Last year, Garduno tied for second at the Lady Monarch Invitational, ninth at Springlake and 13th at Wofford.

Meghan Schaefer tied for ninth at Marshall and 15th at William & Mary this fall. She compiled a 80.72 stroke average last year with four top 20 finishes, which include eighth place at Longwood and the Lady Monarch Invitationals.

The Lady Monarchs will also be counting heavily on the play of Deztany Jackson, who shot two rounds under 80 this fall, Samantha Mosko, Bailey Mosier and Rashelle Fetty, who led ODU at the Myrtle Beach Classic.

Last season, ODU won the Lady Monarch Invitational, tied for third at Longwood and NIU Springlake, fifth at Wofford and seventh at the CAA Championships.

"We have a lot of depth," said Kotten. "Anyone on the roster can step up and play." Last year's second team All-CAA selection Laura Holmes has played well as has Alexis Garduno. Alexis became only the second Lady Monarch to break par at the Lady Monarch Invitational, shooting a two under 70. Rashelle Fetty, Deztany Jackson, Samantha Mosko and co-captain Bailey Mosier have played well for us. With Alexis, Laura and Meghan leading the way, this is a team that can finally have a breakthrough performance at the CAA Championships."

PAT KOTTEN

HEAD COACH

Pat Kotten, a two-time conference Coach of the Year, is in his fifth season as head women's golf coach at Old Dominion University.

This past fall, ODU enjoyed four top ten finishes including third place at Marshall, fifth at the Lady Monarch Invitational and seventh at William and Mary.

ODU enjoyed its finest season a year ago with seven top ten finishes and four top five finishes, including the championship of the Lady Monarch Invitational. Freshman Laura Holmes earned second team All-CAA honors.

In 2006, the Lady Monarchs had five top ten finishes which included a fourth place finish at the Tribe Classic and sixth place at Bethune-Cookman's tournament.

Kotten has 17 years of Division I golf coaching experience. Prior to his coming to ODU, Kotten served as the men's head coach at the University of Maryland Baltimore County and started the women's program where he coached for four seasons.
